As I See It

By Fr. Vin

(It came to me recently that I have only about a dozen more columns before I retire; so I'm going to aim – unless circumstances interfere – to focus on “what really matters” between now and June.)

Becoming an Adult Disciple (What Really Matters – III)

“The woman caught in adultery” is a famous, but very strange, story. (One aspect of its strangeness is that it doesn't appear in early manuscripts of the John Gospel where we find it today [8:1-11], but does appear in some early texts of Luke [after Lk 21:38]; and scholars describe its theme and style as much more akin to Luke than to John. It is presumed to be a story that circulated independently in the early church, and was incorporated into the John Gospel by a scribe at some early date.)<sup>1</sup>

But the strange aspect I'm interested in is this: When we read or hear the story, Jesus' words and actions make perfect sense: “Let the one without sin cast the first stone”; “Neither do I condemn you; but from now on, avoid this sin.” But remember: we're looking back in time – we know how Jesus answers. If we shift perspective, and try to put ourselves into the same situation – first with the Pharisees, and then with the woman – could we come up with one, much less two, perfectly-fitting actions? I doubt it.

This to me is a mark of something that religious formation all-too-often forgets: “Becoming Christlike” isn't a matter only of piety or of morals: It is a matter of learning to see, to understand, and to act on all of our experience as Christ would: that is to say, more accurately than we now do. This isn't a matter of intelligence, but it is a matter of guided practice and, perhaps more importantly, of setting and of holding fast to a goal.

To take seeing, understanding, and acting in order:

We know that Jesus was concerned that his disciples see accurately: “Take the plank out of your own eye, first, before you take the speck out of your brother's eye.” [Lk 6:42] The “plank” is our assumptions, our biases, our prejudices, and all the rest that distorts what we tell ourselves is “reality.” To become an effective disciple is to acknowledge that we are biased; to learn the minute details of exactly how those biases affect us (to the best of our ability); and to work consistently to correct for our ongoing biases.

We know that Jesus was concerned that his disciples understand not just him but the world around them accurately: “Look closely at how the wild flowers grow” [Lk 12:27]; “By their fruits you will know them” [Mt 7:16]; and too many other places to list....

And we know that Jesus was concerned that his disciples act wisely on what they perceive and understand: “The Kingdom of Heaven is like ten virgins, five of whom were wise and five were foolish” [Mt 25:1-13]. “Do not cast your pearls before swine” [Mt 7:5].

In short, Jesus wants his disciples – us – to grow more effective in doing his work. That means not just piety and good morals (although it certainly includes those), but – even more to the point – accurate seeing (acknowledging and overcoming biases); correct understanding (rather than settling for slogans or easy answers); and wise actions (rather than “taking the easy way,” or any of the other hundreds of escapist possibilities).

See. Understand. Decide and act. Wisely.<sup>2</sup> Our church needs to do a better job of helping every Catholic to learn while growing up to do this consistently. In the meantime, we can work on it in our families, and in ourselves. Until next week, peace.

CATHOLIC SOCIAL TEACHING

Pope Francis's Angelus, 5th Sunday of Lent 2016

The Gospel of this Fifth Sunday of Lent...presents the episode of the adulterous woman, highlighting the theme of the mercy of God, who never wants the sinner to die, but that the sinner convert and live. That woman is...placed between Jesus and the crowd, between the mercy of the Son of God and the violence and anger of her accusers. Were Jesus to follow the stringent law, approving that the woman be stoned, he would lose his reputation of meekness and goodness which so fascinated the people; however, were he to be merciful, he would be flouting the law, which he himself said he did not wish to abolish but fulfill.

Jesus did not respond; he kept silent and..."bent down and wrote with his finger on the ground". In this way he helped everyone to calm down, not to act on the wave of impulsiveness, and to seek the justice of God. Then Jesus looked up and said: "Let him who is without sin among you be the first to throw a stone at her". This response confounded the accusers, disarming all of them in the true sense of the word: they all lay down their "weapons". That is, the stones ready to be thrown, both the visible ones against the woman and those concealed against Jesus. How much good it does us to be aware that we too are sinners! When we speak ill of others – something we know well – how much good it will do us to have the courage to drop down the stones we have to throw at others, and to think a little about our own sins.

REMINDER: Did you apply for your Earned Income Tax Credit (EIC) and Child Tax Credit (CTC)?

According to IRS, each year millions of eligible workers do not claim their credit missing out on millions of dollars they have earned. Even if workers don't earn enough to owe income tax (although they pay federal excise and payroll taxes as well as state and local taxes) they can qualify for these tax credits but may not realize it. Child qualifications for workers with children are: son, daughter, grandchild, stepchild or adopted child, or foster child. Check it out before it's too late!

Adult Confirmation by Joseph Salzone

In the Diocese of Rockville Centre, adult Confirmations usually take place on Pentecost Sunday, which varies each year between May and June. This year it is June 9. Father Vin makes a special request to celebrate Confirmations on the Feast of the Epiphany, which is in early January, as well. I teach a seven-week class prior to each date which prepares the candidate for the sacrament. The fall class starts at the end of October, and the spring class starts the Wednesday after Easter.

Other than what I mentioned above, there is nothing I can do. Last fall, I received three emails from young adults seeking to be immediately confirmed in order to be a Godparent. Unfortunately, either my class schedule or the confirmation date was not suitable. All three had to tell their love ones they couldn't be a Godparent.

I'm sorry if I sound like a broken record, but I'm only trying to help. If you know of any adult or teenager turning 18 by June 9 and has not been confirmed, please urge them to enroll in my spring class which starts on Wednesday, April 24.

For more information, they may contact me by calling the office and leaving a message or by sending an email to jsalzone@ourladyofgrace.net.

What is Family Life Ministry?

Family Life Ministry came out of the need and desire we all have for community. Would you like to get to know the people you worship with each week? We host a monthly breakfast after the 10am Mass where we gather for a light breakfast and can sit and meet some new people or bring the family for a nice break before we get busy for the day! If you attend another Mass, we would still love for you to join us. Everyone is welcome whether you are a family of many or a family of one!

We also offer several events during the year that are both spiritual and social. In addition, we meet monthly to plan these events. We meet on Monday evenings; but if you'd like to help and can't be at our meetings, contact us – we still want you involved!

Our next Family Ministry Hospitality breakfast will be today, April 28, after the 10am Mass

Please join us! We will have coffee, tea and juice plus bagels, quiche and muffins. This is a great way to get together with our worship community! Everyone is welcome even if you attend Mass at a different time!

Spousal Bereavement Support

Survival is coping every day, day by day, moment by moment. Being alone and being lonely are two different feelings. When you lose a spouse, you are plunged into roles you never expected. Single parent, bread winner, bill payer, shopping, cooking, cleaning; you don't share these any more. You are the only provider for yourself. There is no distinction between men and women. They both have to learn new skills. It becomes opposite of what you're accustomed to. Cooking, cleaning, car inspection, toilet leak have to be taken care of no matter who you are.

A bereavement support group is what helped me. Maybe it can help you. It costs nothing and you can share with others the same feeling of loss, the loneliness, and the changes you are now faced with.

We will be offering a bereavement support group which is an eight week program that meets one day a week for 90 minutes each time. My name and phone number and the co-facilitator are listed below. You're not going to know unless you try.

John Laszewski 631-874-0210 and Fran Kish 631-587-1578.

Scam Alert

Some parishioners recently received an e-mail, seeming to be sent by one of the priests here, asking for donations to what seemed like a good cause. It was a scam, as are so many e-mails and phone calls these days. Someone had hijacked the priest's personal e-mail account and was using it for a fraudulent purpose.

Be smart: Don't trust e-mail or telephone requests for money or personal information, even if they seem to come from (or involve) someone you know. Don't ever give out personal information when you receive a phone call or e-mail – if you're unsure, look up the e-mail address (don't use "reply") or phone number, and ask the person or institution for the facts.
